GREAT LESSON TO CANADIANS

To be Learned from Recent Happenings

ADDRESS BY REV. DR. W. T. HERRIDGE.

Speaker Deplores the Tendency to Seek for Wealth and Refers to the Money Scarcity.

The Thanksgiving Day service at St. Andrew's Church yesterday morning was an interesting one and was well attended. The pastor, Rev. W. T. Herridge, D.D., chose his text from Psalm 20th, verse five, his subject being "The Present Aspect of Canadian Affairs."
His address was a masterly and eloquent effort, touching on what Canadians had to be thankful for and pointing out lessons that should be learned from some things that have happened to Canada as a nation lately. Touching on the reason Thanksgiving Day was held, he claimed the thanks given meant nothing if not really sincere. He expressed the opinion that Canadians had reasons for thankfulness for national advancement, for an increase in population, and for the development of resources. Canadians had also lately been made to feel the wider part they had to play in Imperial issues. Then while the harvest was perhaps not as large as at first anticipated, prices were so much higher than usual that the general result would mean as much money for those raising the crops.

Money Scarcity.
The reverend gentleman intimated that some perhaps might not agree as to the reasons for thankfulness. There was the money scarcity question, the present sensitiveness of labor, and so much feverishness and unrest in certain circles across the border that even Canadians could perhaps feel the dash of the spray against their faces. These things were, however, but the sequel of good times. Men could not lose if they had not had anything to lose, and lately Canada had apparently been suffering the reaction from a debauchery of prosperity. In Canada speculation had become a kind of mania that had seized all classes, from the elders in their back kitchens, labor was demanding its share of the good things and good times. The poor man was being pushed about, and the rich man, financially crippled, was handicapped in his investments. The present condition of Canada presented the pathetic spectacle of a country with boundless resources waiting for something to turn up.
Afforded a Lesson.
The speaker took the view that the present money situation, the stock market issue, etc., afforded a lesson for moralizing. Some interested, if they did not moralize in the church, certainly would do so out of it.
The causes leading up to present conditions, the extravagance and great desire for wealth were matters that should afford food for thought. There seemed almost everywhere to be the greatest desire for wealth. Those who had not money were trying to get it. The trusts and corporations did not want to can do, the speaker said a healthy tone of public sentiment was a good thing for Canada, and in public life often meant a sort of revival service that sometimes led to a sudden conversion.

The most interesting address was closed by the injunction for all, as Canadians, to thank God and to take courage. These ebbs and flows of prosperity were to be expected, and in Canada they had a country which no one could reassure the possibilities of.
Excellent Music.
Mr. F. M. S. Jenkins, organist and choir-master, presided at the organ, rendering several selections, amongst which were Handel's "Allergretto-Water Music" and Meyerbeer's "Coronation March."
The choir's rendition of "Praise Waiteth for Thee, O God," by Myles Foster, during the offertory and the solos accompanying it were well rendered.
Miss Taplin sang "He shall feed His flock" from Handel's Messiah.
An interesting service of thanksgiving and praise was closed appropriately by the choir singing Kipling's occasional (music by De Koven), "God of our fathers, known of old; Lord of our far-flung battle-line, Beneath whose awful hand we hold Dominion over palm and pine, Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget."
After this the choir and full congregation sang the three verses of the National Anthem.
