

Bevan Quits Labor 'Shadow Cabinet'

LONDON, April 15.—(CP)—Aneurin Bevan last night quit the Labor Party's policy-making "shadow cabinet" in an open row over Britain following the United States-sponsored unity plans against Communist aggression. Bevan laid his charges then stomped out of a party caucus.

The Labor Party appeared split down the middle in the open break between former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, leader of the moderates, and the left-wingers under Bevan, former health minister.

Bevan touched off the fight in a private party caucus by bitterly accusing Britain of "surrendering to American pressure" in the recent talks between U.S. State Secretary Dulles and Foreign Secretary Eden on common policy in Indo-China.

Attlee took the position that Bevan's denunciation was going so far as to wreck the impending Geneva Conference on Korea and Indo-China.

Attlee cautioned the meeting against going ahead with proposals that would jeopardize the Geneva Conference.

Attlee took the view that "although we wished China to take her place in the United Nations, it must be remembered that she had been declared an aggressor". He said that Red China was "showing imperial-ist aims in Korea, Tibet, and elsewhere". While there must not be support for "obsolete colonialism", he insisted Asiatic countries be included in any defence organization.

Bevan told parliamentary correspondents he quit because:

1. He is against German rearmament within the European Defence Community (EDC) pact.
2. He opposes the new proposed Southeast Asia defence plan agreed to by Eden and Dulles and regards it a surrender to American pressure.
3. He does not go along with the Labor Party's majority view on EDC.

"I was deeply shocked", Bevan said, "at the failure of the (Labor) parliamentary leadership to immediately rebuke Mr. Eden's acceptance of the American initiative on Southeast Asia, which is tantamount to diplomatic and military encirclement of Republican China."

Bevan's resignation probably means the end of the kid-glove diplomacy with which Attlee has been struggling to preserve an outward semblance of unity.

Free from responsibility as an Opposition front-bench spokesman, Bevan now may say what he likes in the Commons.

His move is capable of splitting the party on every major foreign policy issue.

Town Stinks

CEDAR SPRINGS, Ont., April 15.—(CP)—This area 10 miles-southeast of Chatham stinks.

The aroma from tons of onions, dumped by farmers on their fields when the price went too low to make it profitable to sell them, hangs over the area.

Cedar Springs residents say it could be worse. Last year the area was invaded by skunks.

CANADIANS INVADE GERMANY—Less than 10 years after Canadian soldiers arrived in Germany to fight, Canadian families are invading and occupying the country. One of the largest families of a Canadian brigade member to make the trip across the Atlantic, was that of Cpl. Marcel Giguere, of Quebec City. He is seen greeting his wife and six children at Soest, Germany. School teachers are badly needed now in Germany to provide instruction to children of Canadian families such as his. —(National Defence Photo)

Acquit Suspect In Danvers Robbery

BOSTON, April 15.—(AP)—A Federal jury Wednesday acquitted George D. O'Brien, 44, of Quincy, Mass., of larceny in the record $681,700 looting of an armored truck at Danvers March 25, 1952.

The theft, carried out while the armored truck's three-man crew was having coffee in a nearby drugstore, was the largest such haul in U.S. crime records.

After the verdict was announced, Judge George C. Sweezy said he does not personally agree with the decision and asked the jury if any member had been intimidated in any way.
