

250,000 Filipinos Celebrate Return Of Home Rule Today

Rumors Of Extremist Revolts At Celebrations Unfounded

Manuel Quezon Elevated to Presidency of Commonwealth and Promises To Govern Conservatively And Avoid Violent Changes in Established Order.

Associated Press Dispatch. MANILA, P.I., Nov. 15.—Filipinos took over government of their own islands today, while 250,000 people celebrated the return of home rule. Rumors of extremist uprisings failed to materialize as the crowd, said by officials to be the largest in insular history, gathered in a huge square facing the legislature building to watch inauguration of the Philippine Commonwealth and elevation of Manuel Quezon to its presidency. Constabulary and reinforced police were scattered throughout the throng, but there were no reports of serious outbreaks.

Both defeated candidates for the presidency—Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo and Bishop Gregorio Aglipay—scientifically remained away from the scene. Veterans of the revolt against Spain, which Aguinaldo led, also refrained from marching in the parade after the program had been completed.

Quezon, who accepted the presidency with a promise to govern conservatively and to avoid violent changes in the established order as his first official act, ordered all Philippine officials to "swear to accept the supreme authority of the United States in these islands and to maintain true faith and allegiance thereto."

He took command of insular forces, such as the constabulary, and summoned the new unicameral national assembly to convene Nov. 22.

The final official act of the day—and to Filipinos one of the most symbolic of all—was the entry of the dapper little president into ancient Malacan palace as its first Filipino master.

Rev. Dr. D. Currie, Retired Minister, Died On Thursday

Was Formerly Presbyterian Pastor and Entered United Church of Union in 1925.

Rev. Dugald Currie, D.D., former Presbyterian Church minister and one of the foremost workers for church union, passed away at his home, 554 Driveway, shortly after noon yesterday. Rev. Dr. Currie had been in indifferent health for a long period. He was 84 years of age.

Rev. Dr. Currie had a successful life in the ministry and was a most efficient worker and one who was beloved by the people. He was a man who held a commanding position in the Presbyterian Church in the early days. The late Dr. Currie took a keen interest in the official life of the church, and in the early days advocated church union. He never turned aside from this view and was always working along union lines. In communities where he held charge, he did all he could to unite the congregations and was successful in many instances.

For the past thirteen years Rev. Dr. Currie had made his home with his daughters in Ottawa.

Graduated in 1884.

Born at Crinan, Ont., on October 9, 1851, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald Currie, who came to Canada from Scotland. He received his early education at Crinan and in 1884 graduated from McGill in Arts and Theology. Immediately after graduating, he went to Three Rivers, Que., where he was ordained into the ministry. He remained in this charge from 1884 until 1887, when he was called to Glenora, Ont. He held this charge until 1892, and was then inducted as minister of Knox Presbyterian church at Perth, where he occupied the pulpit for the next twenty-one years. From 1914 until 1920 he was minister at Beaverton, Ont., and then at Blind River from 1920 until 1922. After serving at Blind River, he held a charge in Montreal East for a couple of years before he retired from active ministry. Dr. Currie received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the Montreal Presbyterian College in 1913.

The late Dr. Currie entered the United Church when church union was consummated on June 10, 1925, and had been on the retired list since that date.

While he held the charge in Perth, Dr. Currie was moderator of the Montreal-Ottawa synod of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. During his ministry at Glenora, he was instrumental in having a fine church built in that place. On the 25th anniversary of the church in 1913, Rev. Dr. Currie was the main speaker for the occasion.

On the 50th anniversary of his ordination in August, 1904, Rev. Dr. Currie was the recipient of a handsome Bible, the gift of the Ottawa presbytery of the United Church of Canada.

In 1888 Rev. Dr. Currie was married to Eliza Cowan Cross of Crimston, Que. She predeceased her husband in 1907. Surviving are two daughters, Miss Jean Currie and Mrs. G. M. Edwards, both of Ottawa; one son, Major George S. Currie of Montreal; one brother, Donald Currie of West Lorne, Ont., and one sister, Mrs. J. G. Stalker, also of West Lorne. In addition, eight grandchildren survive: George, Frances, Mary Anne and Gordon Currie of Montreal, and Mackie, Elizabeth, Janet and Ann Edwards of Ottawa. A daughter, Miss Frances Currie, a teacher at Osgoode Street Public school, passed away a year ago last September.

While in Ottawa, Dr. Currie worshipped at Stewarston United church and latterly attended Chalmers United church.

The funeral will take place from George H. Rogers, Limited, 172 Elgin street, on Saturday morning at Chalmers United church, where a service will be conducted at 10 a.m. under the auspices of the presbytery of the United Church of Canada. The cortege will then proceed to Perth, where another service will be conducted in St. Paul's United church at 1:30 p.m. by Rev. Dr. D. N. Morden, minister of the church. Interment will be in Elmwood cemetery.

Fractures Ankle

(Special to The Citizen.) HAWKESBURY, Nov. 14.—As the result of an accident here yesterday afternoon Raymond Chambers, 27, lies in Dr. E. P. Kelly's private hospital with a fractured bone in his right ankle. His condition is not serious.

According to police information, Chambers was riding a motorcycle west on Main street, near Atlantic avenue, and in attempting to avoid an automobile backing out of the avenue his leg struck the front bumper with considerable force. Noticing no pain he continued on to his work at the Canadian International Paper Co. plant, where later the injured leg began to swell and he was removed to hospital. The name of the driver of the automobile was not obtained.

In Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent. HOLLYWOOD.—The way to find Bing Crosby on the Paramount lot is to look for a shiny blue bicycle with his name on it, together with the word "verbotten." Lesser stars may have their limousines for riding a few yards from dressing rooms to stage, but Bing bowls about under his own power.

His job today is sitting in a lifeboat with a blond Ida Lupino and warbling a Crosbyesque ditty called "My Heart and I." This sounds like a pleasant enough assignment, but it's less fun when one's slowway rendezvous is being closely observed by cameras, directors and dozens of production aids.

Miss Lupino has even less to do; just sits and looks appreciative. I have it on her own authority that she could sing and dance if they'd let her, she being the daughter of a long line of singing, dancing, and acting Lupinos out of Italy by way of London.

All the singing she ever did in an American picture, though, was a verse of "Connie" through the Rye" with parlor organ accompaniment. This lifeboat sequence is in the screen version of "Anything Goes," the Broadway musical comedy hit. Ethel Merman, Charles Ruggles (as Public Enemy No. 13), and Grace Bradley are some other people you'll be seeing in it.

A few of the familiar songs have been retained, with new lyrics, and a number of new songs written in. I'm curious to learn, though, how the name of the picture is coming to be justified, for the titular tune, "Anything Goes," has been discarded.

NEIGHS ARE HEARD

IF you're very quiet you may pop in here and watch Harold Lloyd. He is in evening dress and is supposed to be going somewhere in a taxicab. Also in the taxi is a horse. Well, a colt, anyway. The chauffeur doesn't know about the extra passenger, so whenever the colt whinnies Lloyd pretends to have made the noise by yawning. The whinnying is done by a professional whinnyer—probably the only neigh-man in a town famous for its yes-men.

MAE WEST SLITHERS BY

OVER on the "Klondike Lou" set is Mae West. This scene is in a very uppity Chinatown resort full of roulette wheels and brilliantly clad Orientals. Also, there is a sort of throne room for Lou, who seems to be queen of the joint, or jerrit.

That pretty girl reading an American fashion magazine and humming "La Paloma" is Soo Yong, who's almost tops among Chinese actresses. Here's Victor McLaglen, and can that be?—It is!—Trixie Friganza.

The person attracting most attention on any Mae West set, any day, is Mae West. How she moves in her clothes without splitting a seam is something only explained in the fourth dimension. Gawd at her costume! It's a bright blue gown, and so tight that movement within it would seem more than flesh or fabric could bear. But move she does, and nothing awful happens as she bears off regally toward the waiting cameras.

FIRST IMPRESSION

HERE is an Italian church with a congregation of peasants. The camera, on a long, swinging boom, searches among the representative types and finally resolves the shot on devout, lustily-singing Jan Kiepura. He's to be billed above Gladys Swarthout in "Give Us This Night."

Later I chat with him for a few minutes, and begin to wonder whether tales of his hair-trigger temperament may be a little overdrawn.

Perhaps his experience here is like that of Louis Rainer, who at first understood little of what was said to her in English, and who arrived with a lot of goofy-story-book notions about Hollywood conduct.

She hasn't yet lived down all the unfortunate first impressions created through lack of sympathetic guidance.

SMOKE GETS IN HIS THROAT

IF'S true, though, that young Mr. Kiepura seems indignantly proud, or careful, of his voice. My recollection is that Caruso was a pretty good tenor, and smoked cigars. Kiepura, however, can't endure even the sight of a cigaret clear across the stage. Dries up his throat like a blast from Death Valley.

Then he has to call for his unguents, sprays, gargles and laryngotracheal lubricants, which are assembled on a cart something like a tea-wagon, and trundled around by a stooge in the star's stormy wake. Miss Swarthout, also a pretty good singer, assures me that she doesn't mind if I smoke. At dull parties she sometimes has a cigaret or two herself, but really doesn't care much for them. . . . Snipping tea and awaiting her call, she tells me how much she and Frank Chapman are enjoying Hollywood, and reminds me that when I last talked to them they were just leaving New York for California accompanied by a lot of misgivings. Her husband isn't singing now; he's writing scenarios.
