SPLENDID PROGRAM AT FRENCH FORUM

Able Address and Excellent Musical Program. A crowded house showed the interest evinced in the lecture by Rev. Father Routhie, at the Masonic National Sunday evening, under the auspices of L'Institut Canadien Francais. Mr. S. Leleivre presided. An excellent musical program opened with a violin solo by Mr. Wilfrid Routhie, on account given by Mr. Charles Pare. This was followed by Miss Alice Cartier, who sang Lu Beac Rose's Evaporates; she was accompanied by Miss Nolet, and a "cello obligato" by Mr. Nolet. Miss Carter was in excellent voice, and her singing was much appreciated. The concluding number of the program was a vocal selection from Carmen, by Mr. Emile Boncher, and was another musical treat. Introducing Rev. Father Routhie, the president said his duty was an easy one, as Father Routhie was so well known. His sermons and addresses, while he officiated at St. Anne's church, spoke for themselves, making any comment from him superfluous. Father Routhie took for his subject, a famous saying of the French poet, Henri D'Ornieres, "Everyman Has Two Countries, His Own and France." He gave many instances of Frenchmen of letters, arts, music and military and naval geniuses, from Napoleon to Field Marshal Foch, and made a very strong case "pour la belle France." He stated that no matter what a man's nationality, he had in his heart a regard for his country. Tremendous applause showed how much the audience appreciated the masterly manner in which he handled his subject. Mr. Leleivre announced that lectures would be given every Sunday evening, and if the first were a criterion of what was to come, then to French speaking population had nothing to fear in the way of great-class entertainment.

TO ACHIEVE BETTER THINGS FOR LABOR

Aim of New Weekly, Canadian Labor Press. The increasingly important part which labor is playing in the great work of peace reconstruction has found appropriate expression in Ottawa by the appearance in the form of a weekly newspaper of the "Canadian Labor Press." Its first appearance as a weekly was made last week-end, and it has already been the cause of much favorable comment among labor men and the public generally. Formerly the paper was published monthly, but the demand has increased so rapidly during the year of its existence that to meet growing requirements it has been made into a weekly. It promises well, and the future may be looked forward to with confidence. The "Canadian Labor Press" has a great part to play in the future development of the consciousness of the working class in Canada. In the working class and under wise guidance, it should go far in furthering labor's great cause. The first issue of the weekly is a most worthy production. Not only is it well planned, but also in appearance, it has the air of maturity and experience, and is altogether a commendable publication. Its policy is announced as follows: "The policy of the 'Canadian Labor Press' is to be a rational, national labor paper, striving to achieve better things for labor by peaceful evolution instead of violent revolution. It is a 'labor drama'—thought—education—is the strongest, surest, sanest force to blast the way to social and industrial reforms." The editor of the new weekly is Mr. William Lodge, the circulation manager Mr. Charles Lewis, and the business manager Mr. J. D. Sullivan. It is the official organ of the Allied Trades and Labor Association of Ottawa, and is endorsed by the Ottawa W. L. P., and several other bodies in Ottawa and other centers.
